[Intro]

A D (x2)

[Verse 1]

A D A
Sitting in traffic on the Tappan Zee / fifty million people out in front of me
D A D A
Trying to cross the water but it just might be a while
Rain s coming down I can t see a thing / radio s broken so I m whistling
D A E
New York to Nyack feels like a hundred miles

[Chorus]

F#m A D A
It s not right, it s not fair / I m still a mess and you still don t care
D A
I go to work, I come back home
D E
But you re still gone, and I m still alone
G
And the little red light s not blinking / no, no the little red light s not blinking
D
No, no the little red light s not blinking
D A D A D A D A
On my big black plastic Japanese cordless phone, oh no, oh no

[Verse 2]

A D A
Stuck in a meeting on Monday night / trying to get the numbers to come out right
D A D A
I m getting tired, I think I just might need a drink
A D A D A
And as I m reaching in the bottom drawer / I m dreaming bout the way it was before
D A E
Life was so easy I never really had to think

[Chorus]

F#m A D A
It s not right, it s not fair / I m still a mess and you still don t care

D A
I go to sleep, when I wake up

D E
The pain sets in and it never stops

G
And the little red light s not blinking / no, no the little red light s not blinking

D
No, no the little red light s not blinking

D A
On the desktop mailbox of my big black laptop

[Solo]
