

Smiling At Strangers On Trains
Frank Turner

capo two!

This is frank turner s acoustic arrangement of Smiling at Strangers on Trains.

Based on this videos performance:

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=WidpCnbzqz4>

F 133211
G 320003
Am x02210
C x32010
G7 320001
G? 320000

F G Am C G
it was the strangest thing today
G7 G? F G
i saw new footprints in abandoned pathways
Am C G G7 G?
beneath forgotten undergrowth something stirring again
F G Am C G
you were a single red blood cell
G7 G? F G Am
but i lost you in this knot of capillaries
C G G7 G?
but you were bringing me oxygen when i needed it most in the

Dm
smoke.

and you were always

Dm
as far as mongolia, as close as my clothes

Am
your presence pervading, but it still never shows

C F
as close as the answer i never quite know, or canâ€™t quite remember

Dm
your distance insidious, as soft as a blow

Am

your shadow is with me wherever i go

C

itâ€™s on the tip of my tongue but still i never quite know, or canâ€™t quite remember

F

i donâ€™t quite remember

Verse two is the same as verse one.

the forced proximity of a million different mike leigh movies
makes me long for the fresh air of a familiar face and not the violence of loneliness, nor the unease of surrounded seclusion
i keep nearly missing you around corners and in passing trains

The chorus is the same, cept the end, where it goes:

Dm

your distance insidious, as soft as a blow

Am

your shadow is with me wherever i go

C

itâ€™s on the tip of my tongue, it s on the tip of my-

which takes us to the outro!

F G Dm

F G Dm

F

if iâ€™d known

if iâ€™d known

if iâ€™d known
G
if iâ€™d known
if iâ€™d known
Dm
if iâ€™d known
if iâ€™d known

x something.

F
that you werenâ€™t so far away
G Dm
that you werenâ€™t so far away

F
that you werenâ€™t so far away
G Dm
that you were never that far away

x something

F G Dm
i couldâ€™ve roooooooooooooooooode

F G Dm
thiiiiiiiiiiiiiiiiiiiiiiiiiiiiiiiiis

F G Dm F G Dm F
traaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaain smiling.

It s really hard to place the chords because some words are sung quickly and some very slowly but you get the idea, hopefully :)