Here I stand like a soldier home from war

C#

With nothing to do but remember the shutter of bombs

Ebm

I m sure it never quite goes away

B

It never quite goes away, oh

F#

Here I sit like a beginner beginning again

C#

And all those fuck-ups counted for nothing cause nothing makes sense

Ebm

And I am never quite fully awake

B

And never completely asleep, yeah

F# C# F#

Iâ€™m walking around like a soldier who s home from war

C#

Lost in the foreign landscape I used to know

Ebm

Will I ever feel like I belong?

B

Will I ever feel like I belong anywhere?

F# C# Ebm Bbm Fm B F#

Well, here I lie like a lover who isn t in love

C#

Who stares at the cracks in the ceiling six feet above

Ebm

Bbm

And who knows just how it feels to buckle beneath the weight

Ebm

And there s only so much you can take

B

There s only so much you can take

C#

I might never be normal again

I might never be normal again

Never be normal again

Oh, never be normal again

Ebm

But who cares?

I ask, who cares?

B

Oh, who cares?

F#

And now Iâ€™m standing disheveled at your door

C#

Covered in dust and dirt but full of hope

Ebm

We might never be normal again

C#

Might never be normal again, but who cares?

Ebm

I ask, who cares?
