This is the new single from Garageland, on the Not Empty EP. Standard Tuning.

Intro:

e-----|
B-----|
G-----|
D-----|
A-----|
E-7-7-5-5-3-3-2-2-0-

Verse:

E                                A
There are, there are something you don t say
                                G#m
There are something you keep away
                                F#
There are somethings you ll never know

All verses are in that format.

At the start of the second verse, a second guitar with a chorus effect sweep picks the E chord. Halfway through this verse, this guitar turns on distortion and palm mutes those chords.

Chorus:

                                B
I wanna be free
                                E
And now I m feeling
                                A
Whether we stay together
                                G#m
Know it won t be forever
                                F#
That s a feeling you just can t hide

Thats the bones of the song. There is a solo and a weird slidy thing chucked into the chorus, but they aren t necessary to play the song.
