This song is pretty simple with only picking three chords and you can strum it if you want. I put two parts to every chord, but I also heard another part on D. The last parts on every chord are mostly meant to be played when the song gets more intense and higher.
It s a fun experimental song, try out different way to play it! :)

Intro: D, C, G

Verse 1:

	D	C	G	D
River s edge, so quiet and full of potential
	C	G	D
With weeping trees and just enough nightfall
	C	G	D
To cover up the strays
	D	C
I can hear boats in the distance
	G		D
Making saviours out of ordinary people

Chorus 1:

C G D
Now they sing in a symphony of keepers
 C G D
And they hail in the harmony of saviours

Verse 2:

 D C
You ve got to live, live, live, and love, love, love
 G D
Whether you like it or not, I will love you

Chorus 2:

 C G D
Now the wind picks up swiftly and suddenly
 C G D
And it s breathing as if from a mouth
 C G D
And the edges are lungs that are heaving
 C G D
And it s breathing now without my help
 C G D
And we turn against the darkness with intention

Verse 3:

 D C G
River s edge, you re all that I have
 D
And a night filled with promises
 C G D
And just enough nightfall to cover up the strays

Chorus 4:

 C G D
Now the river s like horses unbroken
 C G D
And it really is time for a change
 C G D
And it moves and connects with a uniform
 C G D
And the bodies return to their makers
 C G D
And it s good and it s true, let it wash over you
 C G D
Untethered and without a reason

D C G
