

Hercules To The Rescue
Guster

Dm x4

Verse I:

Dm                      Am                      Dm
Looks like these afternoons of revery are through

Dm                      Bb                      Am                      Dm
What s left for me to say, what s left for me to do?

C9                                      Dm
Float along and feel the water on my back

C9                      A7                                      Dm
Try not to sink down to the bottom

Verse II:

Dm                      Am                                      Dm
Hollow my head, it echoes like a wooden drum

Dm                      Bb                                      Am                                      Dm
Peel back my skin and make my ribs a xylophone

C9                                      Dm
Feel the water rise and fall between my bones

C9                      A7                                      Dm                      Dm                      C
And then just sink down to the bottom

Chorus:

F                                      Gm                      F                                      Gm                      F
It s a simple love affair, dangerous and true

Dm                                      C    F
Her arms are all around, reaching out for you

F                                      Gm                      F    Gm                      F
She s a siren in the night, with streaks of red and blue

Dm    C    Bb
And though you ve disappeared, you know she will get you through

Bb    Dm
She ll come to the rescue
