

Beaumont
Hayes Carll

Beaumont Hayes Carll Capo 3

I saw you leaning on a memory, with your back turned to the crowd
In that little bar on Murphy, where they play guitar too loud
There were people drinking whiskey, there were hearts about to leave
It was cold as hell for Houston, it was almost New Year's Eve

All the way from Beaumont, with a white rose in my hand
I could not wait forever babe I hope you understand

The night was feelin lucky
So I asked you to dance
And the way you looked up at me
Made me think I had a chance
But when I put my arms around you
I knew you weren't givin in
I hope it will be different if I pass this way again
All the way from Beaumont With a white rose in my hand I could not wait
Forever babe, I hope you understand

I walked the road to get here
With a guitar and a case
I'd of stopped in Pasadena
If I'd known about this place
But you looked like forever
Where the water meets the shore
I've been thinkin about you, baby
I can't do that anymore

I saw you leanin on a memory
With your back turned to the crowd
In that little bar on Murphy
Where they play guitar too loud
There were people drinkin whiskey
There were hearts about to leave
It was cold as hell for Houston
It was almost New Years Eve
All the way from Beaumont
With a white rose in my hand
