This small town is coming down, and It s hard for me to stay. And,

Chorus

oh, I, I find after all this time, I am back here filled with all These memories.

Bittersweet, my own skin and bone. This rust has worn through tearing up
Beneath the seams.

Driving down Salem Avenue.

It s all so familiar now, but so many things Have changed.

And the rain came down all around.

Washed away the industry, washed it to The sea. And,

Chorus

oh, I, I find after all this time, I am back here filled with all These memories.

Bittersweet, my own skin and bone. This rust has worn through tearing up
Beneath the seams.

And, oh, I want it to be like when I was young. Oh, I want it to be like when I was young.

Ooh, ooh, ooh.
