In the 1980s

E A E

I was busy hating

B C#m A
All of the intangible, the impossibly impractical ideas
E A E

I d never understand.

E E A E

E A E

And in the 1990s,

E A E
It was far too exciting for words

B C#m
And now I m drinking adult drinks and now I have the time too think
A E
That sex was so overrated.

Who gave you the right to bruise my little heart?
B A
You tore it right apart, I was saving it for art.
E B
You knew just what to do, so who gave you the clue,
A E
I love no-one else, I love only you.

We will capture all of London,
E A E
On disposable cameras,
B
These sights were here before we were born,
C#m A
They ll be here when we re dead but they ll remember,

E A E

They re touched by our lives.

E A E

Oh we ll burn all their retinas,

E A E

With our patience and our tolerance,

B

Oh, we ll spew and moan, we ll kick and scream,

C#m A

But we ll know exactly what we mean,

E A E

Exactly what we mean.

Who gave you the right to bruise my little heart?

B A

You tore it right apart, I was saving it for art.

E B

You knew just what to do, so who gave you the clue,

A E B

I love no-one else, I love only you.

E C#m

Oh where d you learn the knack, was it skill or was it luck,

B A

You pulled me into pieces and now I m truly fucked.

E B

Don t want to be alone, I m useless on my own

A E

I love no-one else, I love only you.
