

Who Is At My Window Weeping
Hey Rosetta!

Who is at My Window Weeping? (The Silver Dagger)
Capo 2

Em Bm

Em Bm
Who is at my window weeping,
G Bm
Weeping there so bitterly?
C Am
It s I, it s I, your own true lover
Bm Em
Arise, arise and pity me.

Em Bm
Darling, go and ask your mother
G Bm
If my wedding bride you ll be
C Am
If she says no, return and tell me.
Bm Em
And I ll no longer trouble thee.

Em Bm
I cannot go and ask my mother
G Bm
For I m her only child and dear
C Am
Oh, darling, go and seek some other,
Bm Em
She whispered softly in his ear.

Em Bm
And Darling, go and ask your father
G Bm
If my wedding bride you ll be
C Am
If he says no, return and tell me.
Bm Em
And I ll no longer trouble thee.

Em Bm

I cannot go and ask my father

G Bm

For he lies in bed and rest

C Am

Beside him lie that silver dagger

Bm Em

To slay the one that I love best

Em Bm

Then William took that silver dagger

G Bm

And pierced it through his aching heart

C Am

I bid adieu, to all false loved ones.

Bm Em

I bid adieu, for now we part.

Em Bm

Then Mary took the blood-stained dagger

G Bm

And pierced it through her lily breast.

C Am

I bid adieu to my cruel parents.

Bm Em

I bid adieu, for now we rest.

C Am

I bid adieu to my cruel parents

Bm B Em

I bid adieu for now we rest
