I searched high and low for this song then finally tabbed it out myself.

Tuning: Standard

G                    C                    D                    G
How could he justify the love that hes given?

G                    C                    D
How could he make himself believe?

G                    C                                    D                                    Em
That It was worth each drop of blood with each nail driven.

C                                    D
Just to save someone like me.

Chorus

Em                                    C
So want you tell me how, you could think somehow.

G                                    D
That I was worth it and deserved eternal life.

C                                    D                                    Em                                    A
Just give me one good reason and maybe then ill understand.

C                    D                                    C                    D                                    C
What lead him to believe that I was worth the scars in his hands.

G                    C                                    D                                    G
I try so hard to think about how he was feeling.

G                    C                                    D
When they nailed him to the cross.

G                    C                                    D                                    Em
Lifes so hard to live knowing that Im to blame.

C

D

What I know is earths greatest lost

Repeat Chorus
