-- Verse --

G                          D                                                  Em
I dream of the winter in my heart turn into spring
While the ice gives way under my feet
C6                                                                  B
And so I drown with the sun

-- Chorus --

C                          G                          D                          Em
I ve been burning in water and drowning in flame
To prove you wrong and scare you away
C    G                          D                                                  Em
I admit my defeat and want back home
                        C6                          D                                                  Em
Your heart under the rose

-- Verse 2 --

G                          D                                                  Em
I open my eyes with a sigh of relief
G                                          D                                                  Em
As the warmth of summer sunlight dances around me
C6                                                                  B
I see you with dead leaves in your hands
