Bm                D
I hear you crying and I know
                F#m
What it s like to be alone
        A                Bm
You re scared and I m not there
                D
It s like you re living with a ghost

Someone you can t hold
        A                Em    G

And just so you know
                G

                Bm
Time and space have become the enemy
        A                G
And what I need is so far away
        A                D
And so it goes
                G
The distance makes it hard to breathe
                Bm
My heart won t let go easily
        A                G
I don t want to be this far away

Bm                D
I m lying by myself
                F#m
The silence seems to swell

Some-day this all will change
