

I Am A Ghost
Human Kitten

C, F, C, G

I write songs out of a desperate necessity for love
I want you to care about me
I write songs because of a selfish notion that you
Might one day understand me

I write songs because I have no other way to vent
All these emotions that I cannot control
I write songs because I am a faceless ghost
God dammit, I hate that I have a soul

I write songs because Im all alone every day
And these words and chords are a way to fill the space
I write songs because I am a boring person
And playing a guitar, well it makes me seem more interesting

I write songs because it makes my blood move fast
Makes my adrenaline shoot up out my ass
I write songs because it might make one person feel better
About their uniquely shitty life

And I know that I am not the worst
Off in this world
I know theres plenty more to be angry for
Than how frequently my mood swings come about

End on C, G, C
