

Say Something

Ian Axel

This is one of my favorite songs by Ian Axel. As far as I can tell the chords in this are all okay, I did bring the key up one step just so you know. Hope you all enjoy it.

Bm                    G                    D            A
Say something, I m giving up on you
Bm            G                    D            A
I ll the one if you want me to
Bm            G                    D            A
Anywhere I would have followed you
Bm                    G                    D            A
Say something, I m giving up on you

D                    A
And I am feeling so small
          G
It was over my head
                          D
I know nothing at all
          D                    A
And I will stumble and fall
          G
I m still learning to love
                          D
Just starting to crawl

Bm                    G                    D            A
Say something, I m giving up on you
Bm                    G                    D            A
I m sorry that I couldn t get to you
Bm            G                    D            A
Anywhere I would have followed you
Bm                    G                    D            A
Say something, I m giving up on you

D                    A
And I will swallow my pride
          G
You re the one that I love
                          D
And I m saying goodbye

Bm                    G                    D            A
Say something, I m giving up on you
Bm                    G                    D            A
I m sorry that I couldn t get to you

Bm                            G    D                            A
And anywhere I would have followed you

Bm                            G    D                            A
Say something, I m giving up on you

Bm                            G    D                            A
Say something, I m giving up on you

Bm                            G    D                            A
Say something.
