

divest of predestination

Slamming into futures we can't see

I know what can happen when there's more than meets the eye

But there's no way to avoid it just get in the car and drive

All the way I met you head on full speed

At the heart the blue flame burns

All the way I took crash course impact

But have I learned all that I'm supposed to learn

It makes me laugh, we're talking over tea

When
I can still smell the smoke on my sleeve

Steaming like gun smoke the wreckage of our past

The scene of a crime I still can't leave

Oh
you and me, we should let well enough be

But each revisitation points to clues

There's the oil slick of uncertainty

And warning signs back there we didn't use

At least we laugh about it now how we escaped alive

It's remarkable the mess we make and what we can survive
