

Baby Dont Cry, New Sensation

INXS

F                    C   G   F                    C   G   F
(Baby don't cry,    baby don't cry)   x2

Dm                                    G                    Dm                                    G
When you re down and confused    nothing seems right

Dm                                    G                    Dm                                    F
And it s you who decides who s going to make it right            Coro

Dm                                    G                    Dm                                    G
Well life ain t no joke    but it s good when you smile

Dm                                    G                    Dm                                    F
Do you know where you are steal everything but you won t get far            Coro

Dm                                    G                    Dm                                    G   Dm                                    F
Sometimes you will fall    whatcha gonna do give your friend a call            Coro

Dm                                    G                    Dm                                    G
We know that you can smile    even though it takes a while

Dm                                    G                    Dm                                    F
To lose your fears and say    gonna lose your fears and say            Coro

Dm                                    G                    Dm                                    G
Do you know who you are    and where you re going to

Dm                                    G                    Dm                                    F
Don t you know that love gonna pull you    gonna pull you through now baby
(Coro)    x varias veces