

Hallowed Be Thy Name
Iron Maiden

(Solo s copied)

INTRO:

This is the guitar part at the start. It is picked with the thumb and ring finger. The high notes are all fingered with the little finger of the left hand. I ve shown which finger to use for the low notes.

LEAD UNDER Running Low etc.

These first two bars are repeated over and over on the album version. I ve gone on to show roughly how it s played live The first trill allows Dave to get the pick out of his teeth!

RHYTHM 1:

This is doubled by the bass. It is the rhythm that is used for the verses later on in the song aswell.

RIFF B:

This is the riff between Running Low and When the priest..
 As I suspected I was playing this wrong-sheer laziness!
 This should be a lot closer to the proper way. The hammers and pulls may or may not be the actual way its played but if you want to play it as fast as its played live it s definitely the easiest way. Just listen carefully for the timing.

Bass plays Rhythm 1.

Then Dave continues to play RIFF C, (leaving out the notes in brackets), while Adrian plays the following harmony and Steve plays the following bassline.
