

Alanna
Izzy Miller

Bm                    A                    G
Her hair ain't as red as it used to be
D                    A                    G
And inside she's starting to fall apart
Bm                    A                    G
She may not look like much these days
                  D            A                    G
But she still takes away my heart

Her green eyes are slowly fading
But memories from back then still hang around
Remember the kisses and the late night conversations
Then you went and cut me down

D G A                    D
And I said Alanna come back to me
                  G                    A
And maybe you can see how I feel
                  D                    G
And you'll see that I can't help
                  A
But dwell on the past
                  D                    G                    A
And maybe Alanna you'll fall back in love with me

Last time I saw her was down on the boardwalk
I watched her fade onto the beach
Hard to believe after the changes made
That she's still so far out of my reach

And I said Alanna come back to me
And maybe you can see how I feel
And you'll see that I can't help
But dwell on the past
And maybe Alanna you'll fall back in love with me
