

The Mixed Tape
Jack's Mannequin

[Intro]

Am Cmaj7 G Am
Am Cmaj7 G Am

[Verse 1]

          Am      Cmaj7          G                  Am
This is morning          That s when I spend the most time
F                  C                  G
thinking  bout what I ve given up
          Am      Cmaj7          G                  Am
This is a warning          When you start the day just to close the curtains you re
F                  C                  G  F  Am thinking about what I ve given up~

[Chorus]

          F  Am          C                  Dm7
Where are you now?          As I m swimming through the stereo
F                  C                  G
I m writing you a symphony of sound
          F  Am          C                  Dm7
Where are you now?          As I rearrange the songs again
F                  C                  G
This mix could burn a hole in anyone
                                  Am Cmaj7  G Am
but it was you I was thinking of
                                  Am Cmaj7  G Am
It was you I was thinking of

[Verse 2]

          Am      Cmaj7          G                  Am
I read your letter          the one you left when you broke into my
F                  C                  G
house I m retracing every step you made
          Am      Cmaj7          G                  Am
And you said you meant it          and there s a piece of me in every single
F                  C                  G
second of every single day
          F                  C                  G
but if it s true then tell me how it got this way

[Chorus]

          F  Am          C                  Dm7
Where are you now?          As I m swimming through the stereo
F                  C                  G
I m writing you a symphony of sound
          F  Am          C                  Dm7
Where are you now?          As I rearrange the songs again

F C G
This mix could burn a hole in anyone
Dm7 C G
but it was you I was thinking of
Dm7 C G
It was you I was thinking of
