Linda Paloma Jackson Browne

Song: Linda Paloma, from the album The Pretender

Artist: Jack Transcription Date: 2000-1	on: Navid (cowboy_n@hotmail.com)
	LINDA PALOMA
Intro: (G) I	O7 C G [pause]
<pre>[tab] At the momer sing[/tab]</pre>	D7 C  nt the music began, and you heard the guitar player star	rting	G
[tab] You were fil	t D7	G agining[/ta
[tab] C Dreaming of	Em scenes from those songs of love, I was the endless sky[	D7 [/tab]
[tab] And you were	C G e my Mexican dove.[/tab]
[tab] Now the must day[/tab]	D7 C ic that played in your ears, grows a little bit fainter	each	G
[tab]	D7	С
_	d yourself looking through tears, at the love you feel s	lipping
[tab] C Though it s	not the kind, of love you might hope to find[/tab]
[tab] If tears cou	$ exttt{D7}$ culd release the heart, from the shadows preferred by the	G e mind[/tal	b]
Interlude: (	(G) D7 C G x 2
<pre>[tab] Like a wind sleep[/tab]</pre>	D7 C that comes up in the night, caressing your face while y	r ou	G
[tab]	D7	С	G

Love will fill your eyes with the sight, of a world you can t hope to keep[/tab] Em Dreaming on after that moment s gone, the light in your lover s eyes[/tab] [tab] Disappears in the light of the dawn, but the morning brings, strength to your[/tab] [tab] Em BmEm restless wings, and some other lover sings to the sun s bright corona, [/tab] [tab] [pause] D7 C G (G) D7 C G I know all about these things, Linda Paloma.[/tab]

[tab] D7... G G Em D7 G Fly away...Linda Paloma.[/tab]

I dedicate this posting to *SUSAN* who has inspired me with her "Bright Baby Blues"...

Navid