Em                              C              F                          G
      Em
Once I wish I could be on the other side of this conversation
C                                               Dm      Em        G
I d pay so much more attention to the details I forgot like...
Em                        C              F                    G
How easy it was to smile now i m losing my concentration
                    Em                                  C
Cause my thoughts aren t learning to fake it
            F                          G
And I never said this was your fault but...

Em          C          F          G                Dm            G
When you believe in me, then i ll believe in everybody else
        Em                      C              F                    G
I can see that this won t come easy, when you believe in me
            D
I ll believe

          Em              C                  F
 G
I just think that time has a crazy way of changing my interpretation, on how Em                    C          Dm        Em                        G things left off i hate it, I wish we could certainly debate it.
Em                              C                                    F
If you think you re still the one who lives in my heart
                                G
I don t even think i ll say it
Em                      Dm        Em          Dm          G
I ll just stick to the basics love, just stick to the basics...

D                                                                Em
    Dm
And we don t need to yell no more, we can sit alone and listen
                Em                      G            Em              D
We could have a lil drink and sip it, get a lil close and whisper...

Em                                   C              F           Dm
G
But when you believe in me, then I ll believe in everybody else
        Em               C            F                    G
I can see that this wont come easy, when you believe in me
Dm         Em          C
Hell, when i believe in me
          G
I ll believe

Em                                   C                      F
          Dm
In everything I thought I knew and every chance I could have used to help
Em                          G                          Em me, save me from this freaking mess I got into
C                                    F
Surprise, surprise I m alone
G                        Dm          G        Em
Please carry me home, so I can say...

C                  F                      D           Em       C
       F  D
That when the light escapes from here and all the sound it just disappears
          Em               C        F    G        Em           C
          F
Is when I ll believe in all of this, cause what I want, its not what I get
                                G      Dm        Em     Dm                  G
Is it cause I m asking for much, oh no I m asking too much

D                    Em                    D
Cause you re too blind to see that...

Em          C          F          G              Dm              G
When you believe in me, then I ll believe in everybody else
        Em               C            F                    G
I can see that this won t be easy, when you believe in me
I ll believe

Em                   C          F    G            D
When you and me agree, that this is me
