Sun On Sunday James Blunt

The most beautiful sad song I ve ever heard.

Sun On Sunday

D F#m D F#m

A silent tear, an empty smile,

D F#m G

So insincerely, but so gently in denial.

Em B Em B

And me the thief, so selfishly,

Em G A

All the moments meant for you, I made them mine.

D F#m Bm G

How was I so blind to miss you crumbling inside?

D F#m Bm C

Is it too late now to fix you? Let me make it right!

Em A

Cause there ll be no sun on Sunday,

Bm A G

No reason for words to rhyme

Bb I

Cause if you re bleeding, so am I.

D F#m D F#m

A wishful look, a hesitate,

D F#m

You re hoping I will notice that you re not OK.

Em B Em B

And me the fool; you turn away

Em G

It s only then I feel the weight of my mistakes.

D F#m Bm G

How was I so blind to miss you crumbling inside?

D F#m Bm G

Is it too late now to fix you? Let me make it right!

Cm A

Cause there ll be no sun on Sunday,

Bm A G

No reason for words to rhyme

Bb 1

Cause if you re bleeding, so am I.

т с с т

And if I cut you, if I bruise you, then the scars are always mine.

F G C D

Cause I love you so to lose you would be worse than if I died.

Bb Cm G#

How was I so blind to miss you crumbling inside?

Eb Bb Cm G#

Is it too late now to fix you? Let me make it right.

G# Bb

Cause there ll be no sun on Sunday

Eb Bb G#

No reason for words to rhyme

B G# Eb

Cause if you re bleeding, then so am I.
