I Dream An Old Lover Jeffrey Foucault

I Dream an Old Lover

The hammers are pretty easy, I don't know how to post the tab for them, but just listen it and youâ $\in$ <sup> $\mathbb{M}$ </sup>ll get it. Jeffrey might have a different tuning, but this sounds really

if you play it like this

Capo 9

Em G D

Em (

You still come to me in dreams

D Em

This little bed can barely hold

G

The dark beauty of your eyes

D Em

Burn like a fire in the cold

Comfort is the only kind Hearts like flowers bloom and fade Against the chill that finds the bone Is come from dust to dust in trade

Your sorrow for another coin
A phrase no lover fails to strike
The record of our briefest kiss
The shadows of our love alike

As memory and the sea are deep Inside our blue and nameless blood Coursing through this mortal fuse The flower with its frailest bud

You still come to me in dreams This little bed can barely hold The dark beauty of your eyes Burn like a fire in the cold
