

Notice Me

Jenna Anne

A Bb F C

It s not killing me yet, it ll kill me somehow.
Seeing you with that grin, seeing you in this town.
It s a shake, a shake small. The colors of you.
Paint me alive, assemble me too.
It s a shame cause I see you all the time. I see them look at me, but you act like you don t mind.
And when I m looking, I m looking straight at you.
You don t pay attention, no matter what I do.

I ve got reasons in the back of my head.
Wish I could tell you as we lay in my bed.
I picture fire when I think of your skin.
I ll be your artist if you let me in.
Oh, lighting isn t light if there s no dark outside.
So what s the point of us if all I do is hide?
I m a fish & you re the sea, you re the sea.

Notice me, push the rain, set me free.
Notice me, I m your number, I m your key, notice me.

I m a voice you can hear if I talk really loud.
But I feel that s too clear, frankly I m just too proud.
I m the main event, to everyone s eyes.
Except for yours, I ve tried and I ve tried.

I ve got reasons in the back of my skull
I think too many and it s taking a toll.
This heart is ready will you name your price?
Guess you can t bet on water when it s not ice.

Notice me, push the rain, set me free.
Notice me, I m your number, I m your key.
Notice me, or leave my mind, darling please
Notice me, cause I m a prisoner, I can t breathe, notice me.