

Navajo Rug

Jerry Jeff Walker

Capo 2 (or wherever suits your singing voice)

Verse:

G

Well its two eggs up on whiskey toast

Amss

Homefries on the side

C-i

Wash it down with a road house coffee

D

Man it burns up your insides

It was a Canyon Colorado diner

Amss

and a waitress I did love||

she sat beside me neath an old stuffed bear

and a warn out navajo rug

Chorus:

G Em

Well, Aye aye aye, Katy

Shades of red and blue

Well, Aye aye aye, Katy

G

Whatever became of your navajo rug and you

Ol Jack the boss he leaves about six and it s Katy bar the door

she d pull down that navajo rug and spread it across that floor

Well I saw lightning across the sacred mountains the wooing of a turtle dove lying next to Katy

on that old navajo rug

Chorus

I saw ol Jack about a year ago he said the place burned to the ground and as for my Katy dear she done gone and left town

Oh but Katy got her souvenir he spit out a Red Man plug You should have seen her runnin through the smoke she was draggin that navajo rug

Chorus

So every time a cross the Sacred Mountains and lightning breaks above it takes me back to a simpler time with my long lost Katy love

Yea but everything keeps on moving seems like the whole worlds on the go you don t find things that last anymore like a hand woven navajo

Chorus x2
