

Runaway

John David Kent

Im 99% sure on this. This is how I saw him play it live, the G* is kinda hard to hear in the studio version, but he definatly plays that note when he does it live.

Standard Tuning

No Capo

Intro: G Bm A x2 G D A G G*

G*

2
3
0
0
0
3

G Bm A G D A

Standing outside of the train station late one night

G Bm A G D A

Looking for a way to get away and make things right

G Bm A G D A

Theres a 215 headed west for the Hollywood

G Bm A G D A

But its always the same and shell never change what she should

Chorus:

G Bm A

Shes just a runaway

G Bm A

Shes just a runaway

G

Shes just a runaway

D A G Bm A

Runaway running around

G Bm A G D A

Her mama liked to drink and her daddy was never around

G Bm A G D A

She keeps her sense of pride by keeping her feet on the ground

G Bm A G D A

Shes thinking about her past as she waits for the train to arrive

G Bm A G D A

She has to keep on moving its the only way she knows to survive

Chorus:

G Bm A
 Shes just a runaway
G Bm A
 Shes just a runaway
G
 Shes just a runaway
D A G Bm A
 Runaway running around

G
 Gotta keep headed down the railroad tracks
A
 Gotta keep moving dont ever look back

G Bm A x2 G D A G G*

G Bm A G D A
 Running down the streets of Santa Monica Boulevard
G Bm A G D A
 Its just another day another dollar wont go very far
G Bm A G D A
 This town is just a visit for a minute she can call it home
G Bm A G
 Shes taking in the moment cause its changing with the wind of the road

Chorus:

G Bm A
 Shes just a runaway
G Bm A
 Shes just a runaway
G
 Shes just a runaway
D A G Bm A
 Runaway running around

Chorus:

G Bm A
 Shes just a runaway
G Bm A
 Shes just a runaway
G
 Shes just a runaway
D A G Bm A
 Runaway running around

Outro: G Bm A x2 G D A G

Any corrections email me at hulanic@gmail.com