

A Song For All Lovers
John Denver

A song for all lovers

John Denver

G C
I see them dancing somewhere in the moonlight
G C
Somewhere in Alaska, somewhere in the sun
G C
I hear them singing a song for all lovers
G C
A song for the two hearts beating only as one
G C
Imagine the morning no longer alone
G C
The arms of another, a place to belong
Am F C
No longer the struggle, no longer the night
G C
And ever becoming in the quickening light
G C
To see the darkness, to listen within
G C
To answer in kindness, to ever begin
Am F C
To ever be gentle, to always be strong
G C
To walk in the wonder, to live in the song
Am F C
In a place of enchantment where the wild things are known
G C
Will the future remember when the lovers are gone?
(flute solo)
Am F C
To ever be gentle, to always be strong
G C
To walk in the wonder, to live in the song
G C
And I see them dancing somewhere in the moonlight
G C
Somewhere in Alaska, somewhere in the sun
G C
I hear them singing a song for all lovers
G C
A song for the two hearts beating only as one
G C
A song for the two hearts beating only as one

Words and music by John Denver