Lift Up Every Stone
John Hiatt

(song begins with chorus)
CHORUS:
        F#m
```
You gotta lift up every stone now sister
      E               B
Gotta lift up every stone now sister
      F#m
```
Gotta lift up every stone now sister
      A         E         B         F#m
Gotta clear this field and build that wall

          F#m
He was the prince of the county to the manor born
    E                         B
The sheets were bloody and dirty and torn
  F#m
```
Nobody saw nothing, not out this way
          A         E             B         F#m
And they probably won t until the judgment day

CHORUS X1

          F#m
There was a mighty whispering down at the church
            E                   B
About the son of the father of a woman got hurt
            F#m
```
They were looking all over for somebody to pay
```
            A         E         B     F#m
And that s you and me sister now every day

CHORUS X1

BRIDGE:
         A
Now the sun is bloody red
              E                   F#m
And when it s gone somebody ll be dead
          A             E
Don t you cry a tear for me
          B                 C#
Because I did what I could just to be free yeah

Solo section:
|:  F#m / / / | A / E / | B / F#m / :| X4

(last verse uses muffled/muted strum chords until last line, where full chords are played)
        F#m
You gotta lift up every stone now sister
      E                              B         F#m
 cause one is the truth and the other s a lie
          F#m
You gotta lift up every stone now sister
            A           E         B         F#m
 till they tear down the wall to make you cry

CHORUS X2

        A         E         B           F#m
We gotta clear this field and build that wall
        A         E         B           F#m
We gotta...
