

The Medicine

John Mark McMillan

[Intro]

C Am F C G

[Verse 1]

C

Driving by those trucker stops

Am

The cheap motels made of concrete rocks

F

With a hole inside your chest

C

G

The size of a city block

C

I remember the days

Am

When you said you weren't afraid to die

F

I don't think you're brave for it

C

G

I just think you're more afraid of being alive

[Chorus]

F

If I had the medicine

G

I'd give you the medicine

F

Cause I miss you, son

G

I'd bring you back home

If I was the one

F

But it's four and ten

G

In the belly of the four am

F

G

And you're staring down another weekend to silence the pain

And I'm wide awake

C

And there's blood on the promenade

[Solo Chords]

C Am F C G

[Verse 2]

C Here s to waking up with that stone between your ribs Am
F
And you re lying down again
C G
You just pretend you don t know what it is
C When everyone around you says you re not the one to blame for it Am
F
But you re the only one that s feeling the pain for it
C G
So you re gonna take matters into your own hands, yeah

[Chorus]

F
If I had the medicine
G
I d give you the medicine
F
Cause I miss you, son
G
I d bring you back home

If I was the one
F
But it s four and ten
G
In the belly of the four am
F G
And you re staring down another weekend to silence the pain

And I m wide awake
C
And there s blood on the promenade

[Outro CHorus]

F
If I had the medicine
G
I d give you the medicine
F
Cause I miss you, son
G
I d bring you back home

If I was the one
F
But it s four and ten
G
In the belly of the four am
F G
And you re staring down another weekend to silence the pain

And I m wide awake

C

And there s blood
