

You're No One 'til Someone Lets You Down
John Mayer

          D                                  G
No, I ve not seen you this way before
      A7                                  D      A
Standin a mess at my door
          D
Well, it took you so long
      D7                  G
But you finally found
      D                  A7                  D
You re no one til someone lets you down
      D                                  G
You believed that all people are kind
      A7                                  D      A
That you d never mess with your mind
          D
And you gave her your trust
      D7                                  G
And she busted your crown
      D                  A7                  D
You re no one til someone lets you down

B7
Yes, I ve been told
          Em
That some people grow old
      A7                                  D          F#7
Without losing a part of their soul
      B7
But if that is true
          Em
I don t wish it on you
      A7  A
There s so much to adore in a heart that is blue

          D                                  G
There s a light in your eyes that is pure
      A7                                  D      A
But you won t give away anymore
          D
But just think of the things
      D7                                  G
We can talk about now
      D                  A7                  D
You re no one til someone lets you down

B7

Yes, I have heard

Em

There are some that avoid

A7

D

F#7

All the pain that will come with the fall

B7

But if that s the case

Em

It would surely erase

A7

All the joy that you feel

A

When the hurt fades away

D

G

There s a hard-ticket train on the way

A7

D

A

Waitin to take you away

D

Will you please keep in mind

D7

G

When it pulls into town

D

A7

D

G

You re no one til someone lets you down

D

A7

D

G

You re no one til someone lets you down

D

A7

D

You re no one til someone lets you down