Thirteen
Johnny Cash

```
 Am                          D              Am
Bad luck wind been blowin  at my back,
       D                                 C         Am
I was born to bring trouble to wherever I m at.
                                      D              Am
Got the number 13 tattooed on my neck,
           D                                        C
Am
when the ink starts to itch, then the black will turn to red.

         D                      Am      D
 Am
I was born in the soul of misery,        never had me a name, D                        C            G      Am
they just gave me the number when I was young.

          Am                         D          Am
Gonna find me a preacher man, confessing all I ve done,
           D                              C            Am
or you can catch me with the devil playing twenty one.
                           D              Am
Bad luck wind been blowing at my back,
     D                          C                      Am
I pray you don t look at me, I pray I don t look back.

         D                      Am      D
 Am
I was born in the soul of misery,        never had me a name, D                        C            G      Am
they just gave me the number when I was young.

        Am                     D      Am
Got a long line of heartache, I carry it well,
      D                        C                    Am
the list of lives I ve broken reach from here to hell.
                           D              Am
Bad luck wind been blowin  at my back,
         D                                 C        Am
I was born to bring trouble to wherever I m at.

         D                      Am      D
 Am
I was born in the soul of misery,        never had me a name, D                        C            G      Am
they just gave me the number when I was young
   D                        C            G      Am
they just gave me the number when I was young.
```