

Harmony Parking Lot

Johnny Hobo and the Freight Trains

Harmony Parking Lot

By: Johnny Hobo and the Freight Trains

Iâ€™m pretty sure I got this, in the one recording I have it was pretty hard to tell at because it was poor quality and every so often they change up the order without warning hereâ€™s the best I could come up with. as far as timing goes you re going to have to to the song but it s really easy.

Intro

E|A|E|A

E A
This one s for every drug problem that got stopped in its tracks by a trip to rehab. I ll miss railing pills with you in the park.
D E A D E

E A
This one s for every friend who decided not to drop out and stay at their D mom s house.

E A D
I ll miss you on the street corner when it starts to get dark.

D A E A D A E A
Because tonight I m cryin about the crack house that got torn down in the center of town. And tonight I m laughin about the army recruitment station
D A E A D A E A
D lying vacant.

E A D
Here s to the rubble. A break through every window, a casket buried six feet deep for everybody s hero. Here s to our lives being meaningless. And how C E
C E E D
beautiful it is because freedom doesn t have a purpose.

This one s for every arsonist that got locked down before they burnt the cities down.
miss seeing the sky scrapers on fire! This one s for every friend who got taken off the so the upper class could sleep. So the upper class could sleep. I ll miss the spraypaint slashed tires.

Because tonight I can't smell the pigs around the corner on the shortness of your

And tonight I can't taste the whiskey from across the room in the stumbling of your steps.

to the rubble. A break through every window, a casket buried six feet deep for hero. Here's to our lives being meaningless. And how beautiful it is because freedom

have a purpose!