A    Bm                    F#m      E
Time leads you far and wide
A          Bm                        F#m       E
The highest mountains, the deepest sighs
A          Bm              F#m
Sometimes you end up places you
                    E        A
Never imagined going to
                    Bm              F#m     E
Sometimes you only want to hide

                        D        E
So if you ever find yourself alone
      C#m                             D
Come   round there s always room for one more
                        D          E
When the wind is blowing cold you know
A
All you gotta do s knock on my door

         A        Bm
Take my hand
      F#m      D
Side by side
          A        Bm                    F#m
Come rain or shine we ll take it in our stride
        E                   A
It doesn t matter where we go
Bm                          F#m
We ll find a place we can call home
D                       A
It doesn t matter where we go
Bm                         F#m        D
I know a place we can call home

( A   Bm   F#m   D )
( A   Bm   F#m   E )

A          Bm                F#m    E
When the leaves begin to fall
A              Bm                    F#m    E
When summer s fruit starts to grow old
A              Bm             F#m
Sometimes the magic starts to fade
                    F#m    E          A
It s true that everything must change
        Bm                  F#m     E
```

All that glitters isn t gold

```
                          D        E
So if you ever find yourself alone
      C#m                        D
Come  round there s always room for one more
                         D        E
