

The Beginning And The End Of Everything
Josh Pyke

C#m B E A
Too many wolves in my ears
A/Ab C#m B
They try to hide their teeth behind them lips
E A A/Ab
The lips that turn a smile to a sneer

C#m B E A
Oh to be weightless in an atmosphere
A/Ab C#m
More suited to my frame
B E A A/Ab
Cause I feel heavy when I m here, ah-ah-ah-ah

Pre-chorus

B
And at times we all may feel we re
C#m E* A
Lost in orbit like
Forgotten satellites
B C#m E* A
Never drawing nearer to that brilliant sun
We re all
Just hanging around
B C#m E*
But every idea exists somewhere
A F#m
In the ether to be found

Chorus

E B A
And so I keep this locked in my chest at night
E
And when I wake in the morning
B A
I will wait for the lightning strike
B C#m A
But you re the only song I ever want to sing
E B F#m
You are the beginning and the end of everything

C#m B E A
Too many pebbles in my shoes
C#m
They make it hard to walk a straight line
