Under the cold blues stars you would just stroll around the yard
Thatâ€™s what happens to dreams when the life strains,
And the child lays in you...

When you got old you played guitar in a little town, your favorite bar
Just blowing steam now the lights fade,
And everyone s paid to see you...

So did the farm steal your soul when the cornfields won t grow
It s time to leave, now the heart bleeds,
And the family leans on you...

You were under the cold blue stars in another town your favorite bar
That s what happens to dreams when the life strains,
And the child lays in you...
