

The Wall

Iâ€™ve been hiding myself for so long
I thought You were hiding but I was so wrong
Youâ€™ve been drawing me in
Exposed I begin to see I am nothing without You
Youâ€™ve been pulling me out from all of my doubt
To find Jesus it is You

The Wall has been torn down By Your Blood
And as our lives collide with Your Love
We pray tear down those walls that keep us from You

You buried in pain as You hung from the cross
Me cleansed of the stain and all through Your loss
You were tasting the weight of the Fathers hate
Of all my failings
Forsaken You cried â€œFather why?â€•
But it is finished Your alive
