

Constant Headache

Joyce Manor

[Intro]

C#m

E B G#m F# (x2)

[Verse 1]

 E B
I could hear you coming, so I hid by the couch
 E B
You were talking so loudly, I don t know what about
 G#m B
You were drunker than high school, self-conscious and sweet
 G#m B
I never ever felt so cool disguised in your sheets

[Chorus]

 E B
But I m a constant headache, a tooth out of line
 E B
They try to make you regret it, just tell them, no, not this time
 G#m B
I m just a constant headache, a dead friend s advice
 G#m B
You hang me up unfinished with the better part of me no longer mine

E B G#m F# (x2)

[Verse 2]

 E B
And then you finally found me, pretending to sleep
 E B
You said such nice things about me; I felt guilty and cheap
 G#m B
You took two steps to the kitchen, just stared at the sink
 G#m B
I couldn t hold back a smile; I still wish I could have seen you
 E B
Having sex in the morning, your love was foreign to me
 E B
It made me think maybe human s not such a bad thing to be

G#m B
But I just laid there in protest, entirely fucked
G#m B
It s such a stubborn reminder one perfect night s not enough

[Chorus]

E B
It s just a constant headache, a tooth out of line
E B
They try to make you regret it, you tell them, no, not this time
G#m B
It s just a constant headache, a dead friend s advice
G#m B
You hang me up unfinished with the better part of me no longer mine

[Outro]

E E C#m B
G#m G#m B C#m (x2)

E