

Old Hollywood
Julian Casablancas

C Cm Em B
In Old Hollywood, proud and gray
C Cm Em B
All of the ghosts gathered round the TV

G
We can argue all that you like
Bm
We can argue until we fight
Em B Em B
But the loser may have been right

C Cm Em B
Glamorous, black and white
C Cm Em B
Zoning out, most the night

G
Why do we end up imitating
Bm
All the ones that we once were hating
G
Men are clumsy, violent fools
Bm Em B Em B
Women are a delicate pool of flowers and cobras

C Cm
Short story long
 Em B
I put it in a song
 C Cm Em B
As the TV was shouting on:

G Bm
Because being quiet can sometimes be more powerful than being right
Em B
You could try it
G
We can argue all that you like
Bm
We can argue until we fight
Em B C
But the loser may have been right
