

Ran Tan Waltz

Kate Bush

Ran-Tan Waltz

(original title, The Ran Tan)

B-side of Babooshka single

Written by Kate Bush

Bm                    Em

Where is she

Am

When the little thing cries?

D

Bm

She lies in a bed

Em

With a friend of mine.

Bm                    Em

But some nights

Am

She ll run back in fright

D

Bm

If she picks on a dick

Em

That s too big for her pride.

Am                    Bm

Oh!                    Oh!

C                                    Em                    Am

Why did I ever go marry her?

Bm                    Em

I was a child!

G

Dm

I m holding the baby,

G

Dm

She s ran-tanning constantly.

C

Bm

Em

She saw me coming for miles.

C        Bm        Em
She saw me open wide.

(Repeat verse)
Four o'clock
And the key's in the lock.
And she's been on the wink
And she's stinking of drink.
Wakes the kid,
So I put him to sleep,
And she's in there all night,
Doubled over the sink.

Oh! Oh!
Why did I ever go marry her?
I was a child!
I'm holding the baby,
She's ran-tanning constantly.

C                        Bm                        Em
She saw me coming for miles.

C        Bm        Em
She saw me open wide.

C        Bm        Em
                         Open wide.
