Well, I wanna know I can carry
                   F                 C
Everything I own... Right on my back
                         G
And I wanna know I can go
                   F              C
Wherever I wanna go...  never look back
                                  G
And if I had known it was gonna be this hard I d do it all the same
F                     C
... over again and again
                                      G
But if I had know it was gonna take this long
                         F               C
Oo, babe, I would ve wished... that you had came.

     Am                     G
Oh, you taught me how to run
     F                   C
Oh, you taught me how to hide
             Am                 G
And, love, at night when the rain came down
    F                  C
Oh, you stood right by my side
```

C   G   F   C

       C                      G
Well, I never understood how one
      F                           C
     Could love another one so much
    C                 G
Yea, you took me by surprise
        F                             C
        And changed my whole world with your touch
     C                        G
And I ve never understood a word
       F                   C
        You told me that last day
```

C                                    G
Said you were leavin , gone to
                 F                           C
Another place... you took all your love away

     Am                      G
Oh, you taught me how to run
     F                       C
Yea, you taught me how to hide
               Am                    G
And, love, at night when the rain came down
     F                   C
Oh, you stood right by my side

               Am                    G
And, love, at night when the rain came down
     F                   C
Oh, you stood right by my side

               Am                    G
And, love, at night when the rain came down
     F                   C
Oh, you stood right by my side
