Verse 1:
    \mathbf{A}/
               \mathbf{A}/
                             \mathbf{E}/
She would meet me in the morning
      \mathbf{A}/
On my way down to the river
   A7/
          A7/
                         E7/ E/
Waiting patient by the chant of every tree
              A7/
With her feet already dusty
              E7/
From the pathway to the levi
                E7/
And her little blue jeans rolled up to her knees

Verse 2:
  Α
I d pay her no attention
As she tagged along beside me
Trying hard to copy everything i did
But i couldn t keep from smiling
When i hear somebody saying
Lucky under there goes Jody and the kid

Even after we grew older
 We can still be seen together
 As we walked along the levi holding hands
 For as surely as the season she was changin to a woman
 And i lived enough to call myself a man
Verse 4:
   Α
 And she often lay beside me
 In the coolness of the evening
 Til
     the morning sun was shining on my bed
 And on times when she was sleeping
 I would smile and i d remember
How they use to call us Jody and the kid
Verse 5: (half a tone higher)
Now the words are a little older
 And the years have changed the river
 Cause now they re houses where they didn t used to be
 And on Sundays i go walking
 Down the pathway to the levi
        Rh
 With another little girl who follows me
Verse 6:
   Bb
 And it makes the ole folks smile
 To see her tag along beside me
 Doing little things the way her mama did
 But it gets a little lonesome
      F7/

Verse 3:
