How many more mistakes
will I make before I find a little peace?

How many hits must I take before I finally catch my break?

Don t take my lack luster love for granted
I can only give what I have.

You own only what you make for yourself
and I am doing what I can.

Love was a verb
I never earned reached out my hand
and there you were, flying low.

I left you hurt
you don t deserve
to toss and turn over words
I never spoke.

So Don t take my lack luster love for granted
I can only give what I have.

You own only what you make for yourself
and I am doing what I can.
Doing what I can.
