

Damn You
Lana Del Rey

Hey guys!!!! This is my first time i uploaded a song so i hope that you will like it!! enjoy!!!!

G#m                    E                    B                    F#
I wont cry myself to sleep, like a sucker
G#m                    E                    B                    F#
I wont cry myself to sleep, If I do I ll die
G#m                    E                    B                    F#
Now you fall a sleep with another, damn you.

G#m                                    F#                                    E
Member how we use to escape for the summer?
G#m                                    F#                                    E
Fireworks and sparklers would light up the black skies,
G#m                                    F#                                    E
We d hold on tight through our lives to each other.
G#m                                    F#
Hello, hello were did you go?

G#m                    F#                                    B                                    E
We were two kids living life on the run,
G#m                    F#                                    B                                    E
Like the american dream.
G#m                    F#                                    B                                    E
Baby, nothing to lose and we get messed up for fun
We went too fast, too young.

G#m                    E                                    B                                    F#
But I won t cry my self to sleep, like a sucker
G#m                    E                                    B                                    F#
I won t cry myself to sleep, If I do I ll die
G#m                    E                                    B                                    F#
Now you fall a sleep with another, damn you.
Damn you.

G#m                    F#                                    B                                    E
Flowers in my hair and your breath smelled like whiskey,
G#m                    F#                                    B                                    E
Promise anywhere that I go, take you with me.
G#m                    F#                                    B                                    E
Dancing on your feet like a child to the radio

G#m                    F#                                    B                                    E
Hello, hello where did you go?

G#m                    F#                                    B                                    E
We were two kids living life on the run,

G#m                    F#                                    B                                    E
Like the american dream.

G#m                    F#                                    B                                    E
Baby, nothing to lose and we get messed up for fun
We went too fast, too young.

G#m                    E                                    B                                    F#
But I won t cry my self to sleep, like a sucker

G#m                    E                                    B                                    F#
I won t cry myself to sleep, If I do I ll die

G#m                    E                                    B                                    F#
Now you fall a sleep with another, damn you.
Damn you.

G#m                    E                                    F#                                    B
Every once in a lifetime dreams can come true

G#m                    E                                    F#                                    B
Now and then when the stars shine

G#m                    E                                    F#                                    B
You meet somebody like you.

G#m                    E                                    B                                    F#
But I won t cry my self to sleep, like a sucker

G#m                    E                                    B                                    F#
I won t cry myself to sleep, If I do I ll die

G#m                    E                                    B                                    F#
Now you fall a sleep with another, damn you.
Damn you.
