Sweet Olive Tree Langhorne Slim

Artist: Langhorne Slim Album: Engine EP Song: Sweet Olive Tree Standard Tuning - Capo Four Intro FGC F G C Am FGC G There s a story I heard told G Comes from the banks where the odd sailboat goes C G Now I don t know if its true but I say so Surely in it you will recognize somebody that you know There was a gal in New Orleans She could be sweet but my friend she could be mean G Really with her there was very little in between G F She kissed gentlemen s lips beneath the sweet olive trees G They never knew their woman She never knew her man I wanna know my woman Want her to know her man F Well if you know you too many people

FGC FGCAm FGC

Your hearts bound to go bad

```
G
                        C
He overheard his baby s filth and dirt
                  С
So he hid a .22 beneath his shirt
              C
Then went to pay a her a visit at the place in which she worked
Well if you find someone you love a lot
                           C
I d recommend you give it everything you got
                     G
Either way you ll be sittin pissin in a pot
But at least it will be with someone you love and you trust
Nobody knows their woman
Nobody knows their man
I d die to know my woman
Kill for her to know her man
Just want to take it beyond the initial shaking
Of my own sweaty nervous hand
Or else I might be bad
FGC
F G C Am
FGC
C F C (arpeggios)
```

There are numerous walk-ups/walk-downs that are pretty obvious in the recording so ${\tt I}$ include them.

F

G

One dude she knew got sick with hurt

Folk music isn t about being exactly precise, it s about taking an established tune

making it your own

so if you can figure out the different intricacies of the song, swell, but if you can t, just do what you can and make it your own.

As always listen to the recording while you re playing along and feel free to embellish chords with hammers and pulls and so forth.