

End Of An Era
Larry and His Flask

This is a really easy song by a really great band.

Dm F C A7

Dm

It s the end of an era

F

I guess we weren t as strong as we thought

all the shops are closing

A7

at the end of our block

Dm

streets paved in litter

F

are all that we have

C

no more shiny things that mother brings

so hang it on the wall

A7

let s weep and weep

Bb

there s an anger inside me

C

A7

begging to be released

Dm

C

F

A7

and it s stealing the life from me

F

time spent and time undone

Dm

I m glad that you came here everyone

A7

but the curtain call was more than an hour ago

Bb

A7

so goodbye ladies and gentlemen

F

it s under your pillow you know

Dm

over the mountains and down through the snow

A7

you ll pray for change and rearrange

Bb

A7

but beneath your head lies your sacrament

(instrumental)

Dm F C A7

Dm F

I rush to hide my face in every large crowd

C

cause the thought of them seeing me in such doubt

A7

could put me under and out

Dm

so walk on walk on

F

I will do until out of sight

C

until the casket door creaks and turns

A7

and folds me in and it closes on me tight

Bb

there s an anger inside me

C A7

begging to be released

Dm C F A7

and it s stealing the life from me

F

time spent and time undone

Dm

I m glad that you came here everyone

A7

but the curtain call was more than an hour ago

Bb A7

so goodbye ladies and gentlemen

F

it s under your pillow you know

Dm

over the mountains and down through the snow

A7

you ll pray for change and rearrange

Bb A7

but beneath your head lies your sacrament

Dm

It s the end of an era

F

I guess we weren t as strong as we thought

all the shops are closing

A7

at the end of our block
