[Chorus]

Am C
If this Life has anything to gain at all
G F
I count it lost if I can t hear you, feel you, cause I need you.
Am
Can t Walk this Earth Alone.
C
I recognize I am not my own, so before I fall
G F G
I need to hear you, feel you, as I live to make my boast in you alone.

[Verse 1]

Am
With every breath I take, with every heart beat,
C
Sunrise and the moon lights in the dark street.
G
Every glance, every dance, every note of a song.
F
It s all a gift undeserved that I shouldn t have known.
Am
Every day that I lie, every moment I covet
C
I m deserving to die, I m just earning your judgment.
G
I, without the cross there s only condemnation.
F G
If Jesus wasn t executed there s no celebration.
Am
So in times that are good, in times that are bad
C
For any times that I ve had it all I will be glad.
G

and I will boast in the cross. I boast in my pains.

F

I will boast in the sonshine, boast in his reign.

Am

What s my life if it s not praising you.

C

Another dollar in my bank account of vain pursuit. I do.

G

That count my life as any value or presence at all.

F

Let me finish my race, let me answer my call.

[Verse 2]

(same pattern as verse 1)

Am

Tomorrow s never promised, but it is we swear.

C

Think we holding our own, just a fist full of air.

G

God has never been obligated to give us life.

F

If we fall for our rights, we be in hell tonight.

Am

Mere sinners own nothing but a fierce hand.

C

We never loved him we pushed away his pierced hands.

G

I rejected his love, grace, kindness, and mercy.

F

G

Dying of thirst, yet, willing to die thirsty.

Am

Eternally worthy, how could I live for less?

C

Patiently you turn my heart away from selfishness.

G

I volunteer for your sanctifying surgery.

F

I know the spirits purging me of everything that s hurting me.

Am

Remove the vale from my darkened eyes.

C

So now every morning I open your word and see the Son rise.

G

I hope in nothin, boast in nothin, only in your suffering.

F

G

I live to show your glory, dying to tell your story.
