```
F#                   C#
I m imprisoned, I m living a lie
Ebm                   B
Another night of putting on a disguise
F#                   C#
I wanna tear it off and step in the light
Ebm                B
Don t you, donâ€™t you?
```

```
C#                            B
So now I m knocking at your front door
C#                            B
And I m looking for the right cure
C#                         B
I m still a little bit unsure
C#
 Cause I know,
         B   C#
Yeah I know
```

```
     F#                      C#
That most people see me as ordinary
    Ebm                        B
But if you look close you ll find I m very
Ebm            C#
Interesting and hard to know
         B            C#
You can never tell where this might go
       F#                    C#
 Cause I m not your average, average person
   Ebm                      B
I don t know much, but I know for certain
      Ebm                  C#
That I m just a little bit extra, extra
   B                 B          F#
I m just a little bit extra ordinary
```

```
F#                      C#
I can see it from the spark in your eyes
Ebm                     B
You believe in all the things you deny
F#                         C#
You wanna fly and leave your worries behind
Ebm               B
```

Don t you, donâ€™t you?
