

I Remembered That I Wanted To Kiss Kill You

Manchester Orchestra

This is a song I saw Andy Hull play during a Manchester Orchestra set in Dec. 2008. I also saw a youtube video of him playing a longer version that was from 2011 I think.

Tuning - Half a step down

When he goes from E back to A he does this low Eb|-2/5-|

Intro: A E x2

A I remember that i wanted to kiss you E
A to climb into your mouth for relief E
A in a minute i will remember the woman that i forced you to be A
B C#m B A
is coming out one of these days eventually B E
and I hope to god yeah I hope you forgive me

A
I remember a deadbeat of angels
E
can you feel the relief
B
I felt an angry mob full of sisters crying hard and begging to leave
C#m A B
If you could ever be what I actually needed you to be A B A E
then we might just make it eventually.

A E
I remember that i wanted to kill you
A E
to dig into your chest for relief
A E A
but in a minuted i remembered the woman that i forced you to be B C#m B A
has got a mind that s smart, probably smarter than me end
B E (E
A E)
so i m gonna have to pay for the dumb shit i keep doing