

Cut By Wire
Mary Black

[Intro]

C Dm7 C Dm7 C

[Verse]

The letter stopped in a minor key
A Christmas card that you drew for me
Done by the hand that I knew so well
Disguised the message that you could not tell

[Verse]

I see you bent above your potter s wheel
The piece you re throwing, is the piece you feel
The softest colour and an eye so true
For cups and bowls that are shaped like you

[Chorus]

You work in porcelain cut by wire
And now as ever, lovers walk through fire
When we were breaking, we made no sound
The pieces almost touching on the ground

[Verse]

And now your silence says, there s someone there
She stands behind you as she strokes your hair
How does she hold you, like a long lost friend?
Or are you like me, on your own again?

[Instrumental]

[Verse]

And so I write you in a minor key
Wondering if there s something left for me
I m only writing so that I can sleep
I never found another love as deep

[Chorus]

You work in porcelain cut by wire
And now as ever, lovers walk through fire
When we were breaking, we made no sound
The pieces almost touching on the ground

[Chorus]

You work in porcelain cut by wire
And now as ever, lovers walk through fire
When we were breaking, we made no sound
The pieces almost touching on the ground
